

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

- The people of DRC are among the poorest in the world; IMCK cannot pay its costs from local fees alone.
- Donations have been declining sharply in recent years; Despite being a leading Presbyterian institution, IMCK struggles to meet payroll & purchase medicines.
- In the U.S., institutions like this would have long since set up a permanent endowment fund whose earnings could help smooth variations in giving while indefinitely preserving the principle.
- An endowment for IMCK was set up in U.S. based securities in 2011 with the Medical Benevolence Foundation in Houston the tax free donation channel.
- The IMCK Endowment stood at $250,000 on August 1, 2014. But as much as $5 million is ultimately needed to significantly underpin the IMCK budget and protect the principal.

We are seeking at least a $1 donation from every member of all the Presbyterian Churches in America that we are able to contact. This is something that we can do TOGETHER!

CAN YOU AFFORD $1...$5?

WHAT ARE THE PARTS OF IMCK?

A high school level nursing and lab tech school

A full service teaching and referral hospital of 140 beds

Nutrition, research, public health and in-town poly-clinic programs

University level nursing school

WHERE IT CAME FROM

Institut Médical Chrétien du Kasaï (Kasai Christian Medical Institute) was founded in 1954 by PCUS missionaries, back before the union with UPCUSA! It was moved to its current location outside the city of Kananga in 1964. For a time it also had a dental technician school.

Added in 1975, largely with funds from the PCUS Women's Birthday offering of 1969. Over the years, the staff of multiple doctors with various specialties has attracted medical students and interns seeking to do their practical rotations at The Good Shepherd Hospital, main referral hospital for the region.

An old hotel building in Kananga was purchased in 1981 and converted into the large in-town PAX multi-service clinic with extensive outpatient services, a lab and 20 maternity beds. A research center was built in 1989. IMCK also has strong public health outreach and nutrition programs.

In 2010 a university-level program was added. It has specialties in Midwifery, Pediatrics and Health Administration. So much is the demand for "honest" education in the words of one student, that enrollment has leapt to more than 230 in 2013/2014! A Masters in Public Health program is being added in partnership with St. Louis Univ.

WHAT IT HAS BECOME

According to various surveys, this is among the top five nursing schools in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC). Enrollment is just under 100 students (one half girls) in a 4-year program with a faculty of 13.

The best hospital in the two Kasai provinces, the Good Shepherd Hospital draws referrals even from elsewhere in the country. Surgery is unmatched; known for fistula repair. Its own reliable power supply is rare in DRC. High quality is its hallmark. In 2014 there are 24 medical students and physician residents doing their practical work at IMCK and a surgical residency is planned.

Programs for malnutrition utilize locally grown, nutritionally rich Moringa tree leaves and focus on education. The center of the provincial public health program, IMCK carries on strong clean water and sanitation programs. Learn more at www.IMCK.org.

BUT...

Although, by the grace of God and strong financial support, IMCK has stayed open for 60 years through civil wars, looting, economic decline and political instability, it now has its existence threatened by financial starvation as mission giving has dwindled. See over...
